MARCHING IN FOUR COLUMNS

The Artillery Will Take on Activ Part In Compelling the Surrender of San Junn-Geverals Henry and Schwan to Form a Junction-Plenty of Food and Forage,

New York, Aug. 9 .- A Herald dispatch from Ponce says: from Ponce says: *

Major General Miles' invasion of the island of Porto Rico is progressing in a higgly satisfactory manner. Nothing has taken place to interfere with the plans decided upon by General Miles, and the American troops are gaining ad-

This plan of having the army march upon San Juan from four directions is regarded here us one of Gen. Miles' shrawdest movements. He has the Spantards in complete doubt, and has assign ed a large enough force under each general to insure successful resistance against Spanish attacks.

At the same time by this plan Gen. Miles speedily will have several thousand Spanish troops shut up in the vicinity of Abbonito unless the enemy suddenly changes plans and hastens to San Juan over the military road.

There will be a formidable American force ready to advance upon the Porte Rican capital when the troops under Gen. Henry form a junction with those under Gen. Schwan at Arecibo. It is probable that much of the artillery to be used in the slege of San Juan will be sent to Arecibo by transport and taken from there to San Juan by rail.

This will be a work easy of accomplishment, and Gen. Henry and Gen. Schwan undoubtedly will be able to form a junction with the other troops as soon as they can march to the capital.

No opposition is expected by the Ameri-tan troops in the execution of this plan. All of our men are lighted hearted, and there is plenty of good food for all. The forage for the horses is superb.

Gen. Miles is giving his personal attention to the management of the details of the campaign. He intends to press forward to San Juan regardless of the peace negotiations until orders come from Washington for hostilities to cease.

THREE NEW GUNBOATS.

The Gresham the First of the New Revenue Cuttters to Reach Boston Should any further work be required of the navy, Secretary Long will have at his disposal three very efficient gunboats that have not taken part in any of the operations. These vessels are the new steel revenue cutters Gresham, Algonquin and Onondaga, which were built at Cleveland for service on the great lakes.

As the vessels were too long to pass through the locks of the St. Lawrence canals, it was necessary to cut them in two at Ogdensburg and put them together again at Montreal. Capt. Had not the British government been favorably disposed, it would have been an easy matter to have raised objections which would have effectually kept the cutters in the lakes, but Sir Julian Pauncefote British government saw no reason to revoke the permission already given for

REAR ADMIRAL NORTON.

He Will Remain in Active Service

Until the Close of the War, Rear Admiral Charles S. Norton, the commandant of the Washington navy vard, has received orders from the Secre tary of War to remain at his post of duty until the war shall have terminated. Admiral Norton was to have been retired tonight at 12 o'clock, having reached the age limit.

the admiral said that he is very glad of the opportunity to remain on duty, even at the navy yard, as it is naturally his desire to be of service to his country in time of war. He regrets that his time for retirement, coming as it did within three months from the beginning of the war, prevented him from having the com-

The admiral is a native of New York and entered the Navalacademy in 1852.

After graduating he was assigned to the frigate Potomac, and was promoted to the rank of midshipman and that of master in the same year, 1858. He served through the first part of the civil war as a lie tenant on the steamer Seminole, being in several engagements on the Potomac Riv-er and in Hampton Roads. He was made a lieutenant commander in 1862, and at the very early age of thirty-two was in command of the Marananza. The admiral has the unusual record of having served constantly affoat throug the entire civil war, with the exceptio of two months, when he was confined t the hospital by illness contracted through exposure while on duty.

The record of his promotions since the war is as follows: Commander in 1870 captain in 1881, commodore in 1894, and rear admiral in 1898.

MILES HAS MEN ENOUGH.

Gen. Miles will not ecquire any addi-tional forces for his campaign in Porto. Rico. A telegram from him to this effect was received by Adj. Gen. Corbin this norning. All of the advices from Gen. Miles show that his campaign is pr ressing nicely.

Gen. Greely, chief signal officer, has received a dispatch from Col. Allen, in stating that he has established over 100 miles of military telegraph lines. He has three divisions of the army in direct catton, and is extending his line

AWAITING NEWS.

Tidings of the Impending Battle in No word has been received today from Ponce, though the War Department has anxiously waited for tidings of the impending fight. As announced in The Tim ing, the American soldiers expected to make an attack on the enemy at Camor some time today. There is telegraphic some time today. There is telegraphic communication between the American vanguard moving north and Ponce, but so far as the Administration knows no engagement has taken place.

It was suggested today that the Secretary of War has probably sent a cable message to Gen. Miles telling him to desist until after the Cabinet has considered the Spanish note.

HE OBEYED BLANCO'S ORDER-

ral to Mis Government He Explains All the Circumstances Conthe Loss of His Fleet,

It is known here in diplomatic circles as well as in the War and State Departnents, that Admiral Cervera is not little indignant because of the orders rush out of Santiago Bay, and engage the American navy. Cervera did not think the time was ripe for rushing into what he believed was almost a forlorn hope But Blanco, with his usual undersightedness, scented a victory, even if it resulted in the loss of two or three ships Of course, there was nothing for Cervers to do but to obey orders, and this he did. to the Spanish government. In his offi-cial report to Madrid, which has been transmitted to Spain through the French ambassador, Admiral Cervera calls atention to the orders issued by Capt. Gen. Blanco for his entrance into the harbo of Santiago de Cuba and for his departure therefrom.

Admiral Cervera states that upon ble errival at Curacao he received instructions to proceed to Santiago de Cuba Against his judgment he carried out his nstructions, well knowing in advance that his fleet would certainly be block aded. He received orders on July 1 to leave the harbor, and nothwithstanding his telegram to Captain General Blanco, showing the result of a sortie of the kind, he was ordered to obey instruc-lons.

The Navy Department declines to make The Navy Department decimes to mass-the report public, on the ground that it is a confidential document, and it is sim-flarly regarded at the French embassy. Admiral Cervera feels that his report, having been addressed to the Madrid government, properly belongs to it, and should be suppressed or made public as it sees fit. It is a lengthy document, covering some stxty pages, and is a journal of the movements of the fleet from the time It left the Cape Verde Islands until its destruction.

Accompanying the admiral's report are the reports of the commanding officers of all of the vessels of his fleet, with the exception of one ship, the report of which is made by the second in command, her commanding officer having been killed. The report of the commanding officer of the Colon, it is said, shows that he really the Colon, it is said, shows that he really surrendered to the battleship Oregon. Had it not been for the bursting of a steam pipe, which caused the revolutions of the Colon's engines to drop from fifty-four per minute, the Colon would never have been caught so easily.

THE BISMARCK FIRE.

Confingration Destroys the Greate Part of the City, Bismarck, N. Dak., Aug. 2,-The best fire last night, the loss reaching about $60,000. The two newspaper offices, every drug store in the city, all the gro ceries but three, and the great bulk of the business houses with several blocks of residences were wiped out. There was no loss of life. The flame originated in the agent's office in the Northern Pacific depot. The entire building and an immense warehouse of the company were quickly consumed. In-flamable oils and powder contributed to the heat and before anything could be done to check the fire, it had spread to the block of brick buildings across the alley, destroying the Daily Tribune, Hare's hardware store and the entire row adjoining. The flames then leaped across the street to the First National Bank building, which melted away in a few minutes. The Central block followed, and the fiames spread to the post-office, sweeping over the entire block and carrying down the postoffice. The Merchants' Bank block, the Griffith block.

Ex. Rights The Treasury Sectarian Decision. To the Editor of The Times: The dicesion of the acting comptroller of the Treasury is regarded by opponents

If that part of the act of March 3, 1897, which provides that after the 30th day of June, 1838, no money appropriated for religious denomination, or to any institution under sectarian or ecclesiastical control, is permanent legislation, as the comptroller has decided; then it follows that no such institution can receive money from the Government, whether the same be appropriated to it specifically or not. Because, if some institutions are excluded from public aid all must be.
Otherwise there would be manifest favoritism, and also class legislation, which, according to the rule laid down in Yo Hicks's case, is unconstitutional. Congress cannot pass laws subsidizing Cutiolic and Episcopatian institutions and excluding all other sectarian institutions.

Moreover, if the part of the clause respecting such appropriations declared to be permanent is permanent, it must be Moreover, if the part of the clause respecting such sppropriations declared to be permanent is permanent, it must be constitutional; and if that be so the exceptions must be unconstitutional, because the exceptions contradict the rule, and two contradictions cannot be supported on the same principle.

Mr. Mimmack, treasurer for the Association of Works of Morcy, which has been allowed a subsidy of His under the act of His, admits my view to be correct and will decline to apply the money until the Supreme Court has passed upon the question. FOSEPH BRADFIELD.

stop the taking of testimuny in court, and cause a beliewing cow to stop in disgust and wonder what the noise was that was drawning its thunderous voice? said an old fisherman last night.

On being informed that his sneezer was entitled to the case and all the accessories necessary to conduct an up-to-date takety, the gentleman consented to tell more of his sneezing friend. He said:

"While fishing in a mountain town in Eastern Kentucky last Fall, I went to the village near by one rainy morning to attend circuit court. The judge was delivering an impressive charge to the grand jury, and every ear was listening to catch each word, when the stillness of the court was broken by an unearthly ker-chew, ker-chew, ker-chew i.e., The judge was flunderstruck, and instantly every eye was lurned toward the rear of the room, where a little, unobtruster-clocking old farmer sat unearing as if his head would come off. The judge ordered the sheriff to being the intruder before the bench. The offender come forward, and the judge had a fine entered against the innocent cause of the disturbance.

"Two of the sneezer's friends were called, who testified to the man's good character and high standing, but said they could hear him serves three miles any day in the year. One said that the meezer one broke up a camp meeting with a sneezing spell, and that he saw an entaged bovine stop a thunderous bellowing fit to look in wonder at the human who could make more note than a mad built. But the old tellow couldn't help it, and the fine was remitted."
